Kaiservilla (Imperial Villa & Park)

See the originally preserved apartments of Empress „Sisi“ Elisabeth and Emperor Franz Joseph.

European history was written here for decades. In 1914, the Emperor declared war on Serbia and explained his motives in a manifesto entitled „To My Peoples“, which he signed in Bad Ischl. The declaration of war on Serbia triggered events that subsequently led to the First World War.

The Imperial Villa is surrounded by the extensive Imperial Park, which invites visitors to take long walks and is also home to the Marble Palace.

Sisi's Cottage, Kaiserpark Bad Ischl

The k.u.k. Court gardener Franz Rauch built a two-storey Tudor-style cottage for Empress Elisabeth in the park of the Imperial Villa between 1856 and 1861 using Untersberg marble. The cottage was originally used as a breakfast parlour for the imperial family, but currently hosts changing exhibitions relating to the region, the Salzkammergut and the House of Habsburg.

In the year 2025, Erwin Wurm will be inviting visitors to smile, marvel and reflect with his sculptures from May 17. Sometimes philosophical, sometimes ironic - and sometimes the focus is even on Semmerl, Extrawurst and Essiggurkerl.

Opening hours

Sisi's Cottage opens on Saturday, April 1, 2025. The opening hours correspond to the opening hours of the Kaiserpark.

The Erwin Wurm exhibitions can be seen from May 17 to October 26, 2025

Museum of Bad Ischl

The city museum, located directly on the Esplanade, used to be the famous Hotel Austria and this is where our story begins. We immerse ourselves in the world of the summer resort, the beginnings of the spa business, the imperial summer residence and railroad nostalgia.

Together we embark on a journey through the historic Salzkammergut. We meet illustrious summer resort guests at the hotel bar, meet famous hosts and ask ourselves what lies behind the beautiful glow of operetta sounds, soirees and waltzing bliss?

The exhibition sheds light on this. It is surprising and thought-provoking and raises questions that do not leave out the delicate periods of history.

The oldest beer cellar in Bad Ischl

Let us guide you through the 1,500 m<sup>2</sup> rock cellar and show you the traces of the Ice Age, the brewery's 500-year-old beer cellar system and what a painter's studio has to do with a singing Ischl innkeeper.

Embark on a journey through 25,000 years of time, learn more about the history of the cellar, which dates back to the Ice Age, and discover the paintings of the legendary artist Carlo Battisti. After the tour, you can also visit the in-house brewery and enjoy the brewing specialties in the historic pub!

Opening hours

Guided tours (German language): Wednesday–Sunday at 10:00 and 15:00. Tours last about 60 min. Please wear warm clothing, as the cellar temperature is only 12 °C in summer and winter. English tours (1/2 h) and special tours by appointment.

Cemetery Bad Ischl

The Ischl cemetery "is not only one of the most beautiful in the world", as Hilde Spiel says, but is also very remarkable from a historical point of view.

On a walk through the Ischl cemetery, you will not only discover the graves of Franz Lehár and Oscar Straus. Numerous personalities from the aristocracy, politics, science and art found their final resting place here.

Sacred buildings

The Saint Nicholas parish church is dominated by a 72 m high tower. Inside the ornate church frescos, mosaics, the carved Way of the Cross and most notably the unique “Kaiser-Jubiläums-Orgel” organ all catch the visitor’s eye.

The cemetery of Ischl “...is one of the most beautiful in the world” said writer Hilde Spiel. Many famous people including Oscar Straus, Leo Perutz, Rudi Gfaller and Franz Lehár rest there in peace.

The late Gothic double-span hall pilgrimage church “Maria im Schatten” is located in the oldest market town of the Salzkammergut and dominates the skyline of Lauffen.

The parish church “Maria an der Straße” is the youngest church in Bad Ischl but the oldest church in Austria where blessings of drivers are held. A replica of a late Gothic Madonna dominates the altar.

The Calvary Mount Chapel with its two striking onion-shaped domes features an impressive crucifixion group and baroque ceiling fresco which is well worth seeing. A Way of the Cross leads from Bad Ischl directly up to the chapel. On top of the Calvary Mount visitors have a fantastic view over Bad Ischl.

The Protestant parish church of Bad Ischl, also called the peace church, is a former granary, which was rebuilt in 1881 to be a church with parish rooms and rectory.

Monuments and Memorials

Wirer Monument – in the Kurpark

Map - N/7

Franz de Paula of Wirer was, perhaps, the greatest patron and promoter of Bad Ischl. He is considered to be the founder of the spa. The Wirer monument was unveiled on 18th July 1839 in the presence of the Wirer family. There are further reminders of his links and service to the town with Wirerstraße and Wirerquellgasse which were both named after him.

Statue of Emperor Franz Joseph – Kaltenbachau

Map - J/13

In 1910, the Kaiser Jagdstandbild was unveiled to mark the occasion of Emperor Franz Joseph's 80th birthday. The statue, created by Georg Leisek, is from a photograph depicting the Emperor engaged in one of his favoured pastimes, hunting. The statue stands on a stone block, which weighs at least 13 tons.

Fountain of Franz Karl – at Schröpferplatz

Map - O/7

The fountain is in Neo-Gothic style decorated with depictions of characters engagement in the old Ischl occupations of mining, hunting and fishing. One of the sides has portraits of Emperor Franz Carl and his wife Sophie. The sandstone monument is the work of Hans Greil.

Memorial Stone Archduchess Sophie – Esplanade

Map - N/8

In 1830, under the encouragement of Dr. Wirer, an avenue to trees was planted on the Esplanade. It was named Sophie's Esplanade, in honour of Archduchess Sophie, mother of Emperor Franz Joseph I. A monument was also erected in her name. Close to the monument, is the house where Emperor Franz Joseph I became engaged to Elisabeth in Bavaria, who was later renowned as "Sisi".

Rudolf Monument

Rudolf Monument – in the Rudolfspark

Map - P/7

Archduke Rudolph, Cardinal-Archbishop of Olomouc, was among the first prominent spa guests to visit Bad Ischl. His importance in the development of using pure salt in the thermal spa cannot be overestimated. There are still reminders of him in the Rudolf fountain in Kaltenbach, which opened in 1836. On the same site there used to stand a steam bath.

Nestroy Monument – at Kreuzplatz

Map - O/6

Bad Ischl played a large role in the life of Johann Nestroy. From 1845 he became a regular visitor to the town. In 1859 he bought Nestroy Villa which still stands to this day. In 2005 the first "Johann Nestroy Ring" was awarded in the Lehár Theater. A tradition, originally followed in Vienna, the Bad Ischl award has been given to Erwin Steinhauer, Karlheinz Hackl, Peter Turrini, Karl Markovic, Nicholas Ofczarek, Michael Niavarani, Erni Mangold, Herbert Föttinger and Michael Köhlmeier.

Kálmán Monument – in the Kurpark

N/7

The operetta composer Emmerich Kálmán spent many summers in Bad Ischl. In 1982 a memorial was erected for Kálmán in the Kurpark (spa park) on the occasion of his 100th birthday. The monument consists of a life-size metal bust, placed on a roughly embossed pillar made of white artificial stone.

Hasner Monument

Hasner Monument – at the Hasner Allee

Map - M/9

The Hasner Monument recognises Leopold Hasner's work as "Reformer of the Elementary School." On 14th May 1869, as Minister of Culture and Education, he introduced the Imperial Elementary School Act. Hasner's grave is in Bad Ischl, but shortly after his death a number of politicians developed a plan to build a monument, in the town, to his honour.

Via Salis – Salt trails

Map - outside S/13

More than 450 years ago miners dug deep tunnels into the mountains of Bad Ischl. The "IGM" has restored existing "mouth holes", as well as visiting and re-establishing tunnel entrances that no longer existed. Along the themed trail you will visit historical sites that were once of great importance for the Salzkammergut. www.viasalis.at

Salzkammergut Local Train – Bahnhofsplatz

Map - Q/7

On 30th September 1957 the Salzkammergut Local Train operated for the final time between Salzburg and Bad Ischl. The first section was opened in 1890. Six tunnels and 24 bold bridges underscored the mountainous character of the railway. Kaiser Franz Joseph also travelled on the train.

There are around 140 monuments and memorials in Bad Ischl. From these alone it is possible to understand the immense importance of Bad Ischl as a spa, imperial and cultural town.

Franz Lehár in Bad Ischl

Bad Ischl is also known as the home of Lehár. Lehár said he composed 30 operettas in Bad Ischl. The Lehár Festival, held each summer, and his former home Lehár-Villa are testaments to his works and links to Bad Ischl. Franz Lehár died in 1948 in Bad Ischl and was laid to rest in the town cemetery.

Lehár Monument – in the Kurpark

Map - N/7

Lehár Filmtheater

Former spa theater that was inaugurated on 28th April 1827. Currently, the theater can only be viewed from the outside.

Lehár-Villa

In 1912, Franz Lehár bought the Villa an der Traun in Bad Ischl, which he remodeled according to his own ideas. He spent almost all his summers there, met his wife Sophie and created over 20 operettas, including “The Merry Widow”. The villa was bequeathed to the city and made accessible to the public following restoration work. The exhibition “Dialogue with Franz” provides insights into his life.

The "Trinkhalle"

The historical and contemporary importance of Bad Ischl as a spa town is impressively represented architecturally by the former drinking hall, which was built in 1829-31 as the "Wirerbad" and named after Dr Franz Wirer, the founder of the Ischl spa and personal physician to the imperial family. The "Soolenbadhaus" was designed by architect Franz Xaver Lössl in the form of a "Greek temple with a beautiful foyer". The spacious interior served as a lobby for spa guests who took their drinking cures here. The south wing with the bathing cabins was demolished after the completion of the spa centre in the 1850s.

The building was revitalised on the occasion of the 2008 state exhibition. As the "Haus des Gastes", the Trinkhalle now serves as a stage for concerts and exhibitions and houses the tourist information office.

Wildenstein Castle (ruin)

The ruins tower over the Kaltenbach district and were first mentioned in a document in 1392 as "Veste Wildenstein". It offers a marvellous view of the imperial city.

From 1419, Wildenstein was the seat of the imperial guardians - they commanded the "Ischlland". The castle had towers, battlements, curtain walls, a drawbridge and much more. In August 1593, a devastating fire broke out in the castle. Chronicles report that Wildenstein burned down for the second time in 1715. Since then, the castle has fallen into ruin. Wildenstein was the only castle in the Inner Salzkammergut.

The Ischl local history society has been working for years to save the ruins from decay - and today cosy benches on the meadows in the castle courtyard invite visitors to take a break.

Information / directions

The castle is open all year and the entrance is free. There are two walks up to the castle starting to the left of the Katrin-Seilbahn Cable Car valley station. The first, relatively steep walk, follows the route of the ski slope. The second, more moderate route, snakes up the right hand side of the ski slope.

Siriuskogel

The Siriuskogel hill and the Franz-Josef tower (erected in 1885) form one of the most beautiful viewpoints in the Inner Salzkammergut.

Anyone who has ever been a guest at the restaurant on the Siriuskogel knows how passionately and creatively the culinary craft is celebrated there. The 35-year-old restaurateur and chef Christoph Krauli Held is a culinary visionary and contrarian. In his inn, which he has been running since he was 21 with a young and very committed team, old recipes and traditional dishes are conjured up with modern techniques and original ideas into contemporary delicacies.

The sensory wonder trail, the adventure playground and the small animal enclosure are a special experience especially for children.

Opening hours

May – early January: Wednesday – Sunday from 11:00, even in bad weather. Closed on Monday & Tuesday.

Information / directions

A 20 minute walk from the town centre and along a woodland path. The “Gasthaus Siriuskogel” restaurant also hosts regular concerts and cultural events.

Anzenau Mill Museum

One of the oldest buildings in the Salzkammergut, the "Anzenaumühle", is located exactly on the border between Bad Ischl and Bad Goisern. Grain has been ground here for centuries and bread has been baked from it. Once to survive, today to show people how our staple food is made.
