Imperial Villa & Park

A place where, for decades, European history was made. Experience imperial splendour in the unchanged rooms of Empress „Sisi“ Elisabeth and Emperor Franz Joseph. In 1914, Emperor Franz Joseph sparked WW1 with the declaration of war on Serbia and declared his motives in a manifesto bearing the title „An Meine Völker“ (To My Peoples). The original is on display in the Kaiservilla. The Kaiserpark surrounding the Kaiservilla offers the opportunity for scenic leisurely walks. The Marble Palace is also located in the park.

Casino Cellar

Wander through the 400 year old „Casino Cellar“ which served as a refrigerator for both the Brewery and people of Bad Ischl. Until 1908 the cellar was owned by the „Ischler Brauerei“ (Ischl Brewery). In 1971 the Schmalnauer family took over the property and renamed it „Cafe Casino“. The so called „Grieblkeller“ is a 400-year-old natural cellar with a total area of 376 m². The cellar served as a large refrigerator for the people of Bad Ischl and particularly for the „Old Ischlerbräu“ as its temperature, both summer and winter, is a constant 12 degrees. The remarkable, original medieval structure of the vaulted cellar is largely still intact. This includes the stone pillars, which were spaced to make it easy for delivery carts to turn in order to leave the cellar. Even today the marks from digging the cellar are still visible.

Opening hours

Guided tours in german language: Every 1st and 2nd Wednesday in the month at 15:00, Tours last about 50 minutes. Please wear warm clothing as the cellar temperature is only 12 °C in both summer and winter. Special tours by appointment.

Salzkammergut Local Train

On 30th September 1957 the Salzkammergut Local Train operated for the final time between Salzburg and Bad Ischl. An eventful story from its foundation until its closure came to an end. Countless Salzkammergut residents and guests had travelled with the sooty, steam train and remembered many stories, incidents, accidents and above all the many beautiful, relaxing hours on the train.

The first section was opened in 1890. Kaiser Franz Joseph also travelled on the train. Covering a distance of 66.9 kilometres along a fascinating route, the train was not just a means of transport, it was also a tourist asset. Six tunnels and 24 bold bridges underscored the mountainous character of the railway.

The train also featured in the film, with the song “Between Salzburg and Bad Ischl”. Unforgettable was also the operetta “Der feurige Elias”(The Fiery Elias) by Rudi Gfaller which commemorated the train and its premier on 27th July 1963 took place in Bad Ischl. On 17th November 2017 the Salzkammergut Local Train was moved from its home at the former Gasthaus Jupiter to its new home at Bad Ischl station.

Saint Nicholas parish church

Sacred buildings

The Saint Nicholas parish church is dominated by a 72 m high tower. Inside the ornate church frescos, mosaics, the carved Way of the Cross and most notably the unique “Kaiser-Jubiläums-Orgel” organ all catch the visitor’s eye.

The cemetery of Ischl “...is one of the most beautiful in the world” said writer Hilde Spiel. Many famous people including Oscar Straus, Leo Perutz, Rudi Gfaller and Franz Lehár rest there in peace.

The late Gothic double-span hall pilgrimage church “Maria im Schatten” is located in the oldest market town of the Salzkammergut and dominates the skyline of Lauffen.

The parish church “Maria an der Straße” is the youngest in Bad Ischl but the oldest church in Austria blessing of drivers are held. A replica of a late Gothic Madonna dominates the altar.

The Calvary Mount Chapel with its two striking onion-shaped domes features an impressive crucifixion group and baroque ceiling fresco which is well worth seeing. A Way of the Cross leads from Bad Ischl directly up to the chapel. On top of the Calvary Mount visitors have a fantastic view over Bad Ischl.

The Protestant parish church of Bad Ischl, also called the peace church, is a former granary, which was rebuilt in 1881 to be a church with parish rooms and rectory.

Monuments

Rudolf Monument - in the Rudolfspark

Map - P/7

Archduke Rudolph, Cardinal-Archbishop of Olomouc, was among the first prominent spa guests to visit Bad Ischl. His importance in the development of using pure salt in the thermal spa cannot be overestimated. There are still reminders of him in the Rudolf fountain in Kaltenbach, which opened in 1836. On the same site there used to stand a steam bath.

Nestroy Monument - at Kreuzplatz

Map - O/6

Bad Ischl played a large role in the life of Johann Nestroy. From 1845 he became a regular visitor to the town. In 1859 he bought Nestroy Villa which still stands to this day. In 2005 the first "Johann Nestroy Ring" was awarded in the Lehar-theater. A tradition, originally followed in Vienna, the Bad Ischl award has been given to Erwin Steinhauer, Karlheinz Hackl, Peter Turrini, Karl Markovic, Nicholas Ofczarek, Michael Niavarani, Erni Mangold and Herbert Föttinger.

Wirer Monument - in the Kurpark

Map - N/7

Franz de Paula of Wirer was, perhaps, the greatest patron and promoter of Bad Ischl. He is considered to be the founder of the spa. The Wirer monument was unveiled on 18th July 1839 in the presence of the Wirer family. There are further reminders of his links and service to the town with Wirerstraße and Wirerquellgasse which were both named after him.

Lehár Monument - in the Kurpark

Map - N/7

Bad Ischl is also known the home of Lehár. Lehár said he composed 30 operettas in Bad Ischl. The Lehár Festival, held each summer, and his former home Lehár-Villa are testaments to his works and links to Bad Ischl. Franz Lehár died in 1948 in Bad Ischl and was laid to rest in the town cemetery.

Memorial Stone Archduchess Sophie - Esplanade

Map - N/8

In 1830, under the encouragement of Dr. Wirer, an avenue of trees was planted on the Esplanade. It was named Sophie's Esplanade, in honour of Archduchess Sophie, mother of Emperor Franz Joseph I. A monument was also erected in her name. Also on the Esplanade, close to the monument, is the house where Emperor Franz Joseph I became engaged to Elizabeth of Bavaria, who was later renowned as "Sisi".

Hasner Monument - at the Hasner Allee

Map - M/9

The Hasner Monument recognises Leopold Hasner's work as "Reformer of the Elementary School." On 14th May 1869, as Minister of Culture and Education, he introduced the Imperial Elementary School Act. Hasner's grave is in Bad Ischl, but shortly after his death a number of politicians developed a plan to build a monument, in the town, to his honour.

There are around 140 monuments and memorials in Bad Ischl. From these alone it is possible to understand the immense importance of Bad Ischl as a spa, imperial and cultural town. If you would like more information we recommend you to book the "From monument zu monument" guided tour.

Statue of Emperor Franz Joseph

In 1910, the Kaiser Jagdstandbild was unveiled to mark the occasion of Emperor Franz Joseph's 80th birthday. The statue, created by Georg Leisek, is from a photograph depicting the Emperor engaged in one of his favoured pastimes, hunting. The statue stands on a stone block, which weighs at least 13 tons.

Location

Kaltenbachau, / Engleitenstraße, near Katrin-Seilbahn cable car

Fountain of Franz Karl

The fountain is in Neo-Gothic style decorated with depictions of characters engagement in the old Ischl occupations of mining, hunting and fishing. One of the sides has portraits of Emperor Franz Carl and his wife Sophie. The sandstone monument is the work of Hans Greil.

Location

Schröpferplatz, 4820 Bad Ischl

The "Trinkhalle"

The pump room of Ischl - the "Trinkhalle" was built between 1829-1831 in the classical style. The colonnade and chess-board frieze along the cornice are fine examples of this period. Between 1851-1853 two lavishly glazed wings were added. The building was revitalised in 2008 for the occasion of the "ÖÖ Landesausstellung" exhibition. Today the "Trinkhalle" is the cultural heart of the town and hosts concerts and exhibitions.

Since 2008, the Bad Ischl Tourist Information, has been located in the "Trinkhalle".

Wildenstein Castle

The ruined Wildenstein castle dominates the district of Kaltenbach and has a fantastic view over the town. First mentioned in 1392 as “Veste Wildenstein”, from 1419 Wildenstein Castle was residence of the Imperial Burggrave who reigned over the “Ischlland”.

The fortified structure included towers, round paths, circular walls & drawbridges. The castle had 2 disastrous fires, the first in August 1593, and the second in 1715. Since then the castle has been left to deteriorate. For years, the “Ischler Heimatverband” association has worked prevent the castle from falling into total decay. Today, the castle yard is a comfortable place to take a break and enjoy the view.

Information / directions

The castle is open all year and entrance is free. There are two walks up to the castle starting to the left of the Katrin-Seilbahn Cable Car valley station. The first, relatively steep walk, follows the route of the ski slope. The second, more moderate route, snakes up the right hand side of the ski slope.

Places of Happiness

In and around Bad Ischl there are numerous spots which invite visitors to pause, get away from it all, recharge their batteries and improve happiness and strength. The characteristics of happiness are inner strength and balance, self-discovery and responsibility. Happiness spots help visitors to find themselves, create harmony, bring back positive memories and bring happiness into being.

They can also be used to let go of fear and discontentment. If you take control of your life and open up to what nature has to offer, you will experience a wide range of happiness in the Salzkammergut.
